Probation Policy for Transfer Students

Peace Lutheran School desires to maintain a safe, faith-based educational environment for all our students and families. One method to assist us in achieving this type of environment is a six-week probationary policy for each new student. All new students (anyone not enrolled at Peace in the previous school year) are automatically placed on probation for their first six weeks of enrollment at Peace.

The probationary status will be lifted after six weeks if there are no egregious examples of behavior or influence in a student's file or conduct at Peace. Students who demonstrate behavior or influence that has a negative impact on the classroom or school environment will be asked to suspend their enrollment. Students who have academic, social, or emotional needs greater than the resources we can provide will be asked to suspend their enrollment.

Peace anticipates that this action will rarely need to be taken. If there is no evidence that a student has demonstrated negative behavior or influence during their six-week probation, and Peace has the resources needed for the student, the probation status will be lifted.

We pray that all our students find Peace to be a place they feel welcomed and safe to grow in their knowledge of God's creation and His love for them.
